A bit of information regarding the tour...

Steve Jones owns the Jones Family of Dealerships in Lancaster. The dealership includes GMC, Buick, Honda, and Acura and was formally the Pontiac Dealership that for many years supported our Keystone-POCI Fall car show. Steve has a variety of antique and classic automobiles, automobile memorabilia, and various other antique items of interest to the car hobby.

The John Wright Restaurant was constructed in 1918 and housed a silk mill for many years. The restaurant overlooks the Susquehanna River at the foot of the Wrightsville-Columbia Bridge. Known as the Veterans Memorial Bridge, it was opened in 1930 and at that time was believed to be the longest multiple-arched, reinforced concrete highway bridge in the world. Stone piers to the north of the bridge, formally held the covered bridge that was burned on June 28, 1863 by the Columbia Militia to prevent Confederate Soldiers from crossing the river thus setting up the historic Battle of Gettysburg.

The National Watch & Clock Museum takes us on a fascinating trip into the world of timekeeping which is represented by over 12,000 timepieces from all over the globe. The museum housed ancient timepieces, wristwatches, pocket watches, military and alarm clocks, Asian clocks, European clocks, Novelty clocks, and Tower clocks, to name a few. It's amazing how interesting "Father Time" really is! Come and enjoy the day.
